Training course on- Footprinting in the Animal Production Sector

Blonk Consultants organises a one-day training course, on footprinting in the animal production sector. The training consists of theory, practical examples and hands-on exercise. You will learn about the history of carbon footprinting, recent developments (like Product Environmental Footprint (PEF) and Global Feed LCA Institute (GFLI)), methodological standards, and the complexity of agricultural and food carbon footprints and LCAs. The trainers will take you step by step through the principles of the methodology and hands-on calculations of various case studies.
