

Blonk Consultants

has an immediate vacancy for a

Consultant Sustainability

Are you looking to help international companies, governments and civil society organisations develop sustainable food supply chains? We are expanding our ambitious team with a Consultant Sustainability. The successful candidate will start immediately on a variety of projects in the dynamic environment of sustainable food and agricultural production. We are looking for an energetic and persuasive consultant with a focus on quality and client service who generates innovative solutions and works towards results.

What will you be doing?

As a consultant you will work on projects for sustainable diets and sustainable agricultural production for our Dutch and international clients. Working with the senior consultant you will translate client needs into meaningful projects, which will include performing life cycle assessments of food products and making quantitative analyses for companies, NGOs and governments. At Blonk Consultants we work in different project teams within an easy-going office atmosphere.

Your profile:

- Completed university education in a scientific or engineering subject with a sustainability component (e.g. energy sciences, industrial ecology, sustainable energy technology, environmental science)
- 2 – 5 years work experience in a relevant field
- Strong analytical skills
- Commitment to sustainability
- Advanced level Excel skills
- Advanced knowledge of LCA
- Knowledge of modelling and an understanding of business data systems
- Good report writing skills
- Good communication skills in English
- A focus on quality

Bonus points:

- Experience with programming and/or LCA software (e.g. SimaPro, openLCA, VBA, Matlab, Python, R)
- Experience with LCA studies of agricultural products
- A good command of Dutch, German and/or French language

What's in it for you?

- Contribute to a more sustainable society
- Plenty of room for own initiative and personal development
- Varying project teams in a stimulating working environment
- A contract for 32–40 hours per week
- Become part of an enthusiastic team of young professionals

About Blonk Consultants

Blonk Consultants gives international clients insight into their sustainability issues. We provide answers and solutions in the form of solid, independent research, advice and tools. We are convinced this is essential to help policymakers and businesses make balanced and considered decisions. We believe that accurate and clear information is the fundamental starting point for making the agri-food sector more sustainable and society healthier.

Interested?

Does this position stimulate your enthusiasm? Are you keen to get started? Send a short motivation and your CV (in Dutch or English), before 7 January 2021, by email to Jasper Scholten, info@blonkconsultants.nl.

More information or questions?

If you have any questions about this position, don't hesitate to contact Jasper Scholten by calling +31 (0)182-579970.

For more information about Blonk Consultants and our products, go to:

www.blonkconsultants.nl | tools.blonkconsultants.nl | www.agri-footprint.com | www.optimeal.nl

No agencies, please. Information contained in this notice is not to be used for commercial purposes.